To Our Lady "Gate of Heaven"

"Our Lady, Gate of Heaven," the title of the Blessed Virgin, selected by our president, Jeanne Little, to guide the Class of 1957 during its last scholastic year at Notre Dame, has been chosen by the Maryscript staff as the appropriate theme for the 1957 yearbook. The words of the hymn, "Janua Caeli," contain many thoughts which we have interpreted through our memory book.

"Queen and Mother, many hearts
Cast themselves before thy throne,
But we call ourselves by right
Very specially thy own.

Thou unto the King of Kings
Wert a gate to earth and us.
We must go to Christ through thee,
We can reach Him only thus.

O, then, be to each one here,
The GATE OF HEAVEN, O Mother dear."

Sister Superior Margaret Elizabeth, principal of the Notre Dame Catholic Girls' High School, confers with Sister Eleanor Marie, Treasurer. These two constitute the quiet, yet dynamic source whence flows the efficient power which keeps our school days running smoothly and happily.

Approximately thirty-five years ago the Academy of Notre Dame, Moylan was constructed, a large building of collegiate Gothic architecture with Indiana limestone trim. A profusion of stately pines, maples, and decorative shrubs over the sweeping campus of thirteen acres gave a homey aspect to the boarding school. But the increase of population in the neighboring area finally caused the academy to be converted into a central diocesan high school.

Notre Dame, Moylan, now offers her students a choice of Academic or Commercial courses, including College Preparatory, Art, Music or Home Economic Majors in the Academic, and Stenography, Typing, Office Practice and Bookkeeping Majors in the Commercial Course.

Built on the foundation of Faith in God and the training and understanding of the Sisters of Notre Dame, the school has made a steady climb up the ladder of success.

Sister Margaret Elizabeth, who became principal in 1956, succeeded Sister Genevieve Mary, who had been principal for twelve years.

". . . a breath of the apostolic spirit upon the heart of a woman who knew how to believe and how to love." These are words spoken of Blessed Julie Billiart, the foundress of the Sisters of Notre Dame de Namur.

Blessed Julie, a bright-eyed country girl of Belgium, grew up in the age of Atheism; but as she advanced in maturity, Julie became closer to God by fervent prayer and the practice of virtue. In 1804, under her competent guidance, the small community of Notre Dame was founded in Amiens, France. Over the years, Julie's daughters have carried God's word throughout the world; even to the mission fields of Europe, Africa, China, and Japan.

In 1940, the community celebrated the first centenary of its settlement in America, which brought the fulfillment of Julie's vision and a great extension of her work. In 1956, Notre Dame celebrated the centenary of its arrival in Philadelphia.

Where did our team get its pep and vim? From its coach MISS MARY ANN LOMBARDO. Miss Lombardo also taught health and five gym classes a day. With a cheerful smile MRS. KATHLEEN ROOS, a graduate of Marywood College in Scranton, Pennsylvania, guided N.D.'s juniors through the three hundred and fifty years of American History. The Commercial Department of N.D. welcomed to its faculty MRS. MARY HARE. Mrs. Hare prepared N.D. girls to be future career women by forming them into good office workers through office practice, stenography, and typing. The task of taking care of fourteen hundred girls' records, marks, and reports was in the capable hands of our efficient school secretary MISS MARIE CANAVAN, who assisted Sister Magdalena in the minutiae of office maintenance. Vivacious enthusiasm and cheery smiles characterized the Sophomore-Junior English teacher MRS. CATHERINE NANGLE. Adviser and friend to many of her students, Mrs. Nangle often taught us much more than English. In September we welcomed to the Junior-Sophomore English Department MISS ANN WALL, a graduate of Sacred Heart College in Purchase, New York. Miss Wall not only taught, but dramatized English Literature to her fascinated classes. A sympathetic smile from MRS. HELEN JEROME greeted any girl whose aches and pains had led her to the third floor infirmary. Besides acting as school nurse, Mrs. Jerome also taught Home Nursing to the Seniors and broadcast health to all the classes once a week. We welcomed back to N.D. MISS HELEN FRANK, an alumna of the Class of 1952. Miss Frank taught bookkeeping and typing to juniors and seniors and was found after school giving sparks of encouragement to our basketball team. Notre Dame was fortunate to have on its faculty MISS MAE GERACE. Because of her travel abroad, Miss Gerace was able to give her French and Spanish students a clearer and more interesting knowledge of the languages and customs of these people.

Making Minds Alert

Is that our Captain Kate? So, it is! She seems to be as good on the tracing board as on the basketball court. Her interested audience is comprised of Clementina Goderecci, Anita Raksnis, Mary Keenan, Betty Kapuscinski.

Frances Maniscalco speaks distinctly as Sue Dinsmore records her voice. Pat Welsh and Patricia Leigh wait anxiously for their turn.

Marylike Fashions

Will Emerge

Artists Mary Dube, Judith Rohner, Charlotte Konstance sketch the portrait of a nineteenth century lady — Florence Di Ioia.

Under the critical eyes of Alma Jordan and Francis Toth, Adele Camplone reproduces fashion illustrations while Elizabeth McKenna and Faith Rothkopf delve into a more intensive study of the figure drawing.

Science Made Practical

Grace Wagner illustrates the downstroke of the Lift Pump while Carol Engler checks for accuracy.

One milliliter of water weighs one gram — or does it? While Josephine Cuck records the results, Joan Kennedy cnecks it on the scales and Patricia Miniszak and Theresa Doyle try it from the volume angle.

"I wonder if this will taste as good as the last one did?" asks Winnie McGrath of Eileen Dobinson and Catherine Foster.

ACTIVITIES

O Mother Dear!

All eyes are attentive as Mr. Guglielmo Sabatini enlivens the installation program by directing the orchestra in a spritely selection from "The King and I."

Student Organization Leads Us Onward

Under the guidance of Our Lady, Gate of Heaven, student organization has striven to instill in each member the true meaning of loyalty to Our Lady's bronze and blue.

Our Student Organization was composed of a Student Council and four squads. Members of the Council were elected by each homeroom to represent it in meetings determining various policies and activities of the school. Besides homeroom representatives, the Senior Class elected a President, Jeanne Little.

Helping to keep order in the cafeteria are these gracious hostesses: Elaine De Fonzo (chairman), Susan Dinsmore, Mary Keenan, Theresa Di Domenico, Alice Ellwood, Sabina Dougherty, Helen Devlin, Margaret Esher, Kathleen Dugan, Mary Jo Williams.

"Please keep all lockers locked!" chant our senior locker marshals. Left to Right: Joan Le Kites, Ann Barasha, Anita Raksnis, Christine Tobin, Elizabeth Metcalf and Mary Griffin (Chairman).

Chairmen were selected for all squads which included CAFETERIA HOSTESSES — a group of students who helped keep the cafeteria clean and in order; LOCKER MARSHALS — whose duty was to be on call at all times to "fix" stuck locker combinations. "Girls keep to the left" was the phrase chanted by USHERS who maintained order on the steps and in the corridors. Another important squad was composed of the TRANSPORTATION MARSHALS. They synchronized the faculty-student relationship in areas outside the campus in which the faculty could not be present.

Efficiency Plus . . . A Necessity

Senior Play

"Christmas just won't be Christmas, without any presents . . ." a familiar phrase that will ring in each senior's ear often as she recalls the memory of our wonderful Senior Play of 1957, "Little Women."

The four March sisters are emblazoned on our hearts forever; decisive Jo, the tomboy; industrious Meg, the eldest; prim, graceful Amy who possessed an absurd "vocalabulary"; lovable quiet Beth, "Little Tranquillity" as she is called by her family.

Our two resplendent casts are worthy of much praise as well as the indispensable, behind-the-scenes stage hands, the art students, and our friendly reception committee. The singing of Regina Powers and Joan Hendricks together with the inspiring music of the Orchestra added the finishing touch to a marvelous performance.

"My Lord! . . . My Lady!" proclaim Amy and Laurie as they bow into a proposal (Diane Guy and Eileen Greyson).

"May I offer you this shade?" comments shy Professor Bhaer (Marguerite Wissing) to the apple of his eye (Louanna Sciubba).

Beth (Virginia Sixeas) has just revealed her approaching death to Jo (Louanna Sciubba) and tenderly tries to console her.

Thou Unto the King of Kings

The story of Our Lord's birth, from the Annunciation to the Coming of the Wise Men, was beautifully presented in our tableaux accompanied by Orchestra and by Glee Club carols. "O Come, Let us Adore Him" truly expressed the meaning of Christmas at Notre Dame.

Final tableau of the Nativity. The shepherds: Kneeling: Nancy Kuhn, Theresa Di Dominico, Margaret Lynch. Standing: Florence Stolz, Anne Branon, Judy Desmond, Catherine Harkins. Angels: Anne Marth, Virginia Mullaney, Marianne Smith, Julie Schreiber. Kneeling: Carol McCloskey, Blessed Virgin: Geraldine Cleary. St. Joseph: Ann Marie Whalen. Three Kings: Alice Elwood, Bernadette Yancey, Barbara Idell. Shepherds: Counterclockwise: Clementine Goderecci, Doris Giambri, Mary Ann Anderson, Margaret Coursey, Jean Van Horn. Angels: Kneeling: Joan Sproul. Standing: Marjorie Burns, Mary M. Filliben, Dorothy Hicks.

Wert a Gate to Earth

The scripture messages seemed to come straight from heaven as these narrators read the passages from behind the stage over the loud speaker during the Christmas tableaux. Left to Right: Alma Jordan, Mary Lawrence, Joan Morris.

Moonglow in the Forest Rooms — Senior Prom

Soft melodious strains drifted through the Forest Rooms of the Broadwood Hotel where glowing seniors danced to lovely rhythms. As the radiant couples swayed to the tune of "Moonglow," the theme of the long-awaited prom, the rustling of the multicolored gowns whispered of the glory of the evening. Too soon, the music ended with "Moments to Remember." But December 27 will be a never-to-be-forgotten memory treasured in the hearts of the Class of 1957.

"Music has been called the speech of angels."

Our first song on Notre Dame Day, "Look for the Silver Lining," emphasized the happy spirit with which we began the year.

We were invited to sing at the Media Court House, for the naturalization program for which we chose "America, the Beautiful" and "The Star Spangled Banner."

At Christmas we honored the glorious birth of Christ with "Joy to the World" and "The Birthday of a King." Then we joined the student body in singing the traditional carols. The spirit of Christmas was spread to many others when a few of us sang for the Christmas Day Mass at Broadmeadows Prison Farm.

The most important and exciting event in our program was our spring Musicale. "One Little Candle" and the very beautiful "One God" were two of our favorites. Singing our finale, Mozart's "Gloria in Excelsis Deo," a very inspiring, and devotional song, we realized how wonderful is singing together, lifting our hearts and minds to God.

One of the cherished memories of our Glee Club will be the days when we led the May Procession while we sang the dear hymns of praise to our Lady. Here we are pictured as juniors with our directress, Sister Marie Angela.

Senior Musicians

"Together with the other liberal arts, music contributes to spiritual joy and the delight of the soul" —"Sacrae Musicae Disciplina" December 25, 1955 — Pope Pius XII.

Under the direction of Mr. Guglielmo Sabatini, since every member of our ninety-piece orchestra has devoted herself to work and as a team, we have excelled in producing "fine music."

A '57 exclusive was the presentation of the Spring Musicale at three performances. The last held on Sunday evening, March 31, at eight o'clock.

The orchestra featured such notables as "Romberg Fantasy"; an orchestration from the "King and I"; Hoagy Carmichael's arrangement of "Stardust."

Combining efforts with the Glee Club, the orchestra presented "Gloria in Excelsis Deo" from Mozart's Twelfth Mass. Who will ever forget the production of this finale as the girls representing various nations carried out our theme "United Prayer — United Nations"!

Smiling in dreamy anticipation of their annual Musicale are Senior violinists. Read from bottom: Kathleen Wendel, Joan Hess, Patricia Trefz, Anita Buchy, Joan Marie Percaccis, Barbara Venable.

Contributing deeper tones to the string section, bass violinists Diane Guy, Veronica Manno, and Carol Woelfel accompanied by Teresa Imburgia prepare to render a selection scheduled for the Musicale.

Percussion and wind instrument divisions well represented by five outstanding seniors. LEFT TOR RIGHT: Cornelia Buechele, Florence Willis, Elizabeth Bellew, Patricia Kuznowicz, Joyce Harrison.

Distinguished in their ability as violists, Theresa Trotta and Bernadette Sweney join Mercedes Hutchins, first cellist on stage.

Maryscript

After the theme, cover, and type-style were discussed the staff of Maryscript plunged into the writing of captions and articles. "Teamwork" was our motto as we sat huddled writing heads. Making two copies of the dummy, and planning picture for the photographer consumed many hours.

What could be more rewarding than to see the Art Staff at work, displaying their talents on various pages, carrying out our theme, "Our Lady, Gate of Heaven."

The Maryscript typists came through beautifully by checking, alphabetizing, and typing 357 Senior writeups. They were equally at home turning out articles and typing for all of us.

A Recording Staff was organized to present a Telebook disc composed of the principal events of our school year so that we have not only memories to look at, but to listen to as well.

And now, Maryscript is the Keepsake of 1957.

The Maryscript "Big Three" plan our 1957 record. Julie Schreiber prepares to introduce the theme while Joan Lawn and Cecilia Niehaus listen for their cues.

Room 307 re-echos the pound of keys indicating the final push before copy and captions go to print. Maryscript typists are: Barbara Venable, Ann Marth, Ann M. Whalen, Jean Procopio, Joan Hess, Elizabeth Bellew, Mary Andolfi.

The Turret

Known as the paper with that "extra something," THE TURRET keeps all of Notre Dame up to date on the latest events. The twenty-five staff members all but go, as the song says, "To the Ends of the Earth," searching for news. Each month finds them following a hectic routine that results in THE TURRET as we see it. Page editors are appointed, articles are assigned, written, typed, and dispatched to the printer. When the galleys arrive, they are checked and corrected and entrusted to the printer's care. When the printer staggers in with 1800 copies, twenty-six pairs of eyes (Sister's too!) scrutinize the finished product — THE TURRET, before distributing the copies to the students, and mailing to exchanges throughout the country and even to Europe.

That "All good things come in ten's" might be said of our senior reporters as they collaborate to produce THE TURRET. Left to right: N. Kuhn, M. E. O'Donnell, C. Minghenelli, C. Niehaus, M. L. Holloway, V. Sixeas, L. Sciubba, S. MacPherson, M. Lawrence, E. Greyson.

As a well-deserved reward for each Junior section's going "over the top" in the annual senior play drive, the "wearers of the blue" experienced their long-awaited Junior Day.

And what a day it was! Joyful juniors could be seen everywhere — chatting in their homerooms, smiling gaily in corridors, and acting expertly on stage in our auditorium, proving proudly to everyone that this was truly "their day."

First, in the homerooms, were distributed our favors — rings bearing the image of Mary Immaculate which we are privileged to wear until we receive our class rings next fall. With these our cherished Junior Day will be remembered long after the laughter and frolic is gone. Then, we were adorned with the traditional corsages instead of the paper crowns which were outmoded last year.

The hilarious comedies formed a delightful climax to this fun-filled day.

Threshold of Golden Achievement

We Crown the Gate of Heaven

Spring was in full bloom! God had shown His pleasure in the homage we were about to pay Mary by the lovely day He created for us. Fifteen hundred brown-uniformed daughters praised Our Lady in a procession around our lovely grounds as the voices of the Glee Club rang clear, invoking Our Lady with hymns. Then May Queen, Martha Wolfe, lovingly placed a garland of flowers upon the statue of Notre Dame's protectoress. The sermon of Right Reverend Monsignor Reilly left everyone's heart deep in thought with Mary. What more perfect tribute could be paid Our Mother than the May Procession of 1956!

Heads gratefully bowed, Seniors with perfect attendance lead the May Queen's Court.

Farewell to the Past — On to the Future

The twentieth Commencement sent three hundred and fifty seniors forth "diploma in hand to conquer the world." Held for the second year at St. Joseph's College Field House. The program was presided over by Right Reverend Monsignor Edward M. Reilly, diocesan superintendent of schools. Reverend John J. Graham, associate superintendent, delivered the Commencement Address while Patricia Hanway as Salutatorian welcomed the guests and Madaline Casey presented the Valedictory.

The Reverend Frederick J. Stevenson said the Baccalaureate Mass on the morning preceding graduation at which all the seniors with many of their parents received Holy Communion to thank our dear Lord for the many graces of their school days.

Every Monday and Tuesday, the Brownies of N. D. tested their skill with a bowling ball. With bright smiles on their faces, they enthusiastically opened the doors and entered into the recreation rooms of Collingdale, Penn Rec, Gehris, Stoney Creek, or the Playhouse.

Although not all of our bowling enthusiasts were pros or experts, we can rest assured that most of them were good.

This was proved by the fact almost 325 girls in the bowling league were eligible for the annual Sports Banquet which took place in May..

If you are wondering if N. D. has any champion bowler , Pat Kaleda, a Junior, has a very high score of 207.

Juniors — Class of 1958

As September dawned, there was a blue sky overhead, and a shield of blue over our hearts. Notre Dame's majestic door opened — and with Our Lady's blue emblem, we entered the world of "upperclassmen."

Commercial students plunged quickly into the business of preparing for an outer world that would soon be their oyster. An elaborate language of dots, dashes, and curves called to be mastered, while typewriter keys invited the dancing of busy fingers.

Academic members awoke to a life of experiments and mixtures, imaginary numbers and equations. Cicero came alive in Latin III, and Shakespeare's Caesar in English Class. Milton, Dryden, Blake, and Burns became well-known names.

American Hstory made us pioneers in the New Land, and let us travel the myriad roads up to and past World War II. Home Economics gave promise of efficiency and smooth housekeeping for future homemakers.

Most important of all, our Religion Course gave the spark to fire our faith with bold courage and to find the right path on our way to the Eternal Goal. It gave us the answers to long-sought questions. We realized that God has a definite plan, and that each one of us has a special part in it.

Yes, as Juniors, we grew spiritually and mentally — but we also had time for a bright social life. We loved our Varsity and smiled through their victories and even through their defeats. Junior Day was a memorable event, and the Junior Play a real thrill for all. Then, as Spring approached, the air was filled with the heavenly strains of dance music: our long-awaited Junior Dance.

As Juniors, we were also privileged to visit the chapel. There we spoke intimately with Our Lord, and thanked Him for this wonderful year, possible only through Him. When we left His presence for the last time, we somehow knew we would never have to leave our Junior blue — the blue of Mary, our Mother.

Sophomores Class of 1959

Yes, our class has arrived, and we're here to stay!

Our mascot, the symbol of Notre Dame's famous team, is one of our smallest sophs in size, but not in "pep." The wearers of the red have taken the school by storm from the Varsity and Junior Varsity teams to the Cheerleading Squad.

Biology and geometry, sparking minds with interest and knowledge, and religion, setting hearts aflame with love for our Faith, crowd soph roster cards and notebooks.

How quickly this year has flown by! From the first day of joyous reunion in September, we have danced, cheered, studied, and sung this year away.

Happily we look back on our sophomore year, and expectantly we look ahead. And all Notre Dame can look ahead, also, to the greatest reign of spirit and loyalty this great school has ever seen. Yes, for the next two years, the flaming spirit we've gained this sophomore year will set Notre Dame aflame!
